

Figure S3. Image showing visual scoring of dot blots. Each blot was done in separate paper and reaction chambers in order to limit solution volume for gold conjugation and prevent cross contamination among the human serum samples and PBS negative control.