Message from the Guest Editor

Leading by Prof. Lorenzo Lo Muzio and assisting by our Topical Advisory Panel Member Dr. Francesca Spirito (University of Foggia), this Special Issue aims to expand the current molecular knowledge around head and neck tumors useful for the diagnosis, prognosis, and therapy of these tumors. Suitable topics include HNC genomics, epigenomics, transcriptomics, proteomics, and metabolomics, as well as diagnosis, epidemiology, pathology, immunology, therapy, and monitoring. We encourage experts to discuss their experiences and results involving experimental studies using in vitro and in vivo models, including patient-derived xenograft animal models, biomarker analyses of patient saliva or other body fluids, and tumor-derived microRNA or extracellular vesicles, as well as review articles, noting the Special Issue focus on molecular research, which means that pure clinical research will not be accepted.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry and Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
